

Sioux Chief Partners with Davenport Associates for new Rough Plumbing Sales, Marketing, Distribution in New England

Davenport Associates will represent Sioux Chief in the six New England states, focusing on the company's many popular rough plumbing Supply, Drainage, and Support products such as their universal PEX fittings systems, the Ox Box™ washing machine access box, the Finish Line Drain™, and others.

Kansas City, Missouri (PRWEB) December 07, 2012 -- Kansas City based rough plumbing manufacturer, Sioux Chief, announced its new manufacturer's representative partnership with Davenport Associates for the six New England states beginning January 1, 2013.

Davenport Associates will represent Sioux Chief in the six New England states, focusing on the company's many popular rough plumbing Supply, Drainage, and Support products such as the Ox Box™ washing machine access box, the Finish Line Drain™, Halo Drain™ and other commercial and residential drainage products, universal PEX fittings systems, CPVC, trap primers, support hangers, such as the Hangs Tuff™, Strong Arm™, and more.

"Davenport comes highly recommended to Sioux Chief by both customers and other manufacturers," said Sioux Chief National Sales Manager, Wade Long. "We have high expectations that our business in New England will grow significantly."

Located in Wallingford, Connecticut, Davenport Associates is a family-owned, third generation, sales and marketing firm that will provide Sioux Chief with high level sales and marketing together with management of product distribution throughout New England.

"We are very pleased to be representing Sioux Chief," said Davenport Associates president, Ryan Davenport. "The Sioux Chief product lines complement Davenport's existing lines and we're proud to partner with another family-owned domestic manufacturer."
